

Unwelcome

*There will always be those who make
You feel you're unwelcome—
They are the ones who put you down,
And make your life no fun.*

*You must remember that when you
Are faced with jealousy—
And run into a fight with those
Whose hearts are filled with greed...*

*We are powerless to change them
Playing their petty games—
What is it they can really do,
But call us childish names?*

*The only way we can prevail
Is by controlling how
We react to events in life,
What happens here and now.*

*Although it's harder to ignore,
And turn the other cheek—
Knowing it's time to walk away
Does not mean you are weak,*

*So love the ones you do not like
Because they help us see—
The things inside that we ignore,
And do not want to be.*
